

Who We are

Journal of Missional Practice is a joint venture of FORMISSION and TMN.

FORMISSION

FORMISSION is a missional training hub created to equip Christian leaders to transform their communities with the gospel of Jesus Christ. We offer accredited and practical training through our innovative BA and MA courses. Our networking events draw together the most inspiring leaders of this generation.

We believe an understanding of Missio Dei is essential to revive the church. Working with leaders of missional excellence around the world, we strive to learn and develop the most impactful ways to do mission in the 21st century.

TMN (The Missional Network) is a people of hope-in-action learning to participate with what God is doing in the local. TMN cultivates safe spaces, robust resources and processes to re-orient our Christian communities for the sake of the Gospel and the transformation of God's world.

Editorial Board

The journal is lead by: Alan Roxburgh and Martin Robinson (lead editors), Graham Cray, David Fitch, Craig Van Gelder, Phil Meadows, Roy Searle, Kyle Small, Bob Stradling, Paul Weston

Annually the board calls together a Think Tank to discern God's call and invitation into mission in our cultures and communities. We have been grateful for the participation of: Ash Barker, Michael Binder, Mark Lau Branson, Sam Ewell, Angela Gorrell, John McLaverty, J R Rozko, Paul Sparks, Fiona Watts, Jamie Wilson.

Editorial Team

Alan Roxburgh	Lead editor
Martin Robinson	Lead editor
Mary Publicover	Managing editor
Sara Jane R. Walker	Technical editor
Adam Lang	Web design